

Millimeter Wave Detection

What does this technology do?

Millimeter wave imaging technology provides advanced security by enabling officers to detect metallic and nonmetallic threats without physical contact.

TSA is using software that enhances privacy by highlighting any potential threats on the same generic outline of a person for every passenger. This eliminates the need for officers to remotely view images, making the screening process more efficient.

Use of this technology is optional.

Transportation
Security
Administration

Your safety is our priority

www.tsa.gov