2017-TSFO-00293	6/19/2017	Powell, Daniel	TSA agents at ABQ have indicated to me personally while in an official capacity that they have received official guidance that the TSA definition of "liquids, gels, and aerosols" and that said guidance differs from all dictionary definitions in that it includes some solid sols (colloidal suspensions of one solid in another solid). If no such guidance has been given then a response indicating that no documents were found regarding how to consistently categorize items as "liquid, gel, or aerosol" would be adequate. If guidance was given only nationally, the national guidance is sufficient. If guidance was provided only by making dictionaries available through requisition channels and documenting that said dictionary definitions be controlling, the documents describing that would be a sufficient response.	6/15/2017
